

ACUP began in 1964 when several Atlantic Coast colleges and universities from Maine to Virginia sought an association dedicated to the specialized processes and needs of collegiate printing facility managers. This group was established to promote the communication, training and educational opportunities within the higher education in-plant printing and mailing industry.

In 2013, the membership opportunities were expanded to include K-12 educational institutions. ACUP is the only organization in the U.S. that specifically supports educational in-plant printing and mailing operations. Together we can leverage our shared knowledge, experience, and resources to help all in-plant operations grow and succeed. Please take the time to visit our web page, www.acup-edu.org and attend our annual conference. Then you can experience an organization of gifted and dedicated members, working together for the good of the industry and our institutions.
